

the Gallivant

REMEMBER WHEN

21st March, 2020

Dear Friend of the Gallivant

With the recent Government announcement we are taking positive steps to address the coronavirus epidemic and will be closing our doors from Monday 23rd March.

It is so desperately sad that things have come to this but we must now ALL act selflessly, think of others and be part of the solution. My primary intention has always been to make the Gallivant a place where people can relax, find happiness and be inspired and we will return better, stronger and more able to do this.

From Monday 23rd and for the next few weeks we are asking our team not to come into the Gallivant so they can all socially isolate. The best way of connecting with us is via social, our website or by emailing us – enquiries@thegallivant.co.uk. We will respond to all communications within 24 hours.

If you have a booking with us in March, April or May we will be in contact with you directly in the next 24 hours.

In the meantime we are working on some community inspired projects to support our team, our locals and all our amazing suppliers. We have your backs and we are constantly motivated by the notion of turning every challenge into an opportunity to do good. Watch this space.

But for now, thank you all for your incredible support and messages over the past few weeks. It gives us the strength to re-double our efforts to make the Gallivant a special place.

There is a light at the end of the tunnel, it just depends if you care to see it. Stay safe and be well.

With best wishes
